Eight-year term in jail for rapist

A MAN who raped a woman with disabilities in a public toilet has been jailed for eight years.

Gary Beal, 46, of Bury Road, Great Thurlow, was convicted of rape, false imprisonment and sexual assault following a trial in July at Ipswich Crown Court.

The jury had heard how the woman was attacked as she walked through a cemetery in Haverhill on June 18 last year. Beal had pulled her into a public toilet, locked the door and raped and sexually assaulted her.

Giving evidence from behind a screen, the woman, who is 44 but has the mental capacity of a child, said she had first seen Beal in Market Square, Haverhill, when he asked if he could walk her home, which she refused.

Beal had insisted on following the woman despite her telling him she did not want him to do so.

The court heard that as the woman walked through a cemetery, Beal had grabbed her before pulling her into a public toilet where the attack took place.

She said: "I tried to pull away

Prison sentence: Gary Beal

but he dragged me into the disabled toilet and pulled me on to the floor."

Explaining why she had not reported the incident immediately, the woman said she had feared people would think it had been her own fault.

Sentencing him, Judge David Goodin told Beal: "The offences of which you have been convicted are serious and lead inevitably to a sentence of imprisonment."

Beal was sentenced to eight years for rape and two years for false imprisonment which will be served concurrently. No separate penalty was imposed for the sexual assault.

Wanderer returns: Baldrick was reunited with his owner this week after being found wandering the streets. And it turned out he had been away for a whole year. . . Full story on page 3

Creative chances

AN OPEN morning will showcase educational and leisure opportunities for the elderly on Tuesday.

U3A provides educational, creative and fun activities for the retired and semi-retired in a friendly environment.

Cycle ride is in Jean's memory

A NURSERY worker is using pedal power to raise money for a hospice charity which cared for her mother in the last months of her life.

Tracey Harrison, her 16-year-old son Bradley and her colleague Majella Falconio, from Little Raindrops Nursery, in Chapple Drive will set off on a 100-mile bike ride on Sunday, in memory of Tracey's mother Jean who died of ovarian cancer last year.

The team plan to raise money for St Nicholas Hospice Care on their mammoth trip which will take them through 70 villages including Kedington and Castle Camps.

Majella wants to do the challenge to help her friend, adding: "The hospice looked after Jean in the last few months of her life and they were so good to the family."

Sharing produce to make a difference

VOLUNTEERS are growing produce to feed people who are struggling financially.

Tenants of Havebury Housing Partnership, which provides affordable housing in Haverhill and Bury St Edmunds, have donated fruit and vegetables grown on the allotments at Mildenhall Road Estate, in Bury St Edmunds, to Haverhill Foodbank.

The volunteers can keep some of the produce but decided to give a share to the Foodbank, in Camps Road.

Volunteer Jane Turner, of West Road, said: "My son and

Homegrown fruit and veg is helping out families in crisis

I have wanted an allotment for some time so I was very keen to get involved in the project.

"It's very relaxing to work outdoors on the plots and it's nice to do something that helps other people."

Steve Nutt, lead neighbourhood ranger at Havebury, added: "We have just made our first donation and will continue to do so as the months go by."

"Havebury is committed to helping those less fortunate, and this was a great, practical way to make a difference to people living in our communities."

Henry Wilson, of REACH which runs the Haverhill Foodbank, said: "We were very grateful to Havebury for the donation which will help around half a dozen families."

"We supply people with non-perishable food but there's nothing like fresh fruit and vegetables."

Haverhill Foodbank has fed more than 520 people since April and provides support for people whose lives are in crisis.

Mr Wilson said: "They may have lost their jobs, are going through a relationship breakdown or perhaps have debt problems."

The Foodbank, in the REACH resources centre, is open from 2pm to 5pm on Mondays and Thursdays, all day Tuesdays and from 10am to 1pm on Wednesdays and Fridays.

If you would like to make a donation, please drop non-perishable items off at Next Door Coffee Shop, in Camps Road, which is open Monday to Friday between 10am and 2pm and on Saturdays between 11am and 1pm.

Back home: Baldrick, the travelling terrapin

THE delighted owner of an escaped terrapin was reunited with her pet last week after it spent more than a year "on the run".

Carol Outhwaite, of Jaybeth Animal Sanctuary in Haverhill Road, Barnardiston, recognised her pet Baldrick after a campaign by Haverhill Police and the Weekly News to find the stray terrapin's owner.

Baldrick has been on the run since May 2011 but was returned to Carol, his owner of 46 years, after PCSO Ryan Wilson found him wandering in a street in Stradishall on September 5.

Carol, 59, recognised the terrapin immediately.

She said: "I knew it was my Baldrick as I recognised the twinkle in his eye."

She said the terrapin had surgery to remove tumours on his head and tail so it was easy to spot him.

Carol bought Baldrick when she was 14 years old but he escaped during flash flooding last year, when water levels in the tank rose and the terrapin was able to break free.

She said she thought Baldrick had made his way into the river and paddled up towards Ipswich and she had never expected to see him again.

BY LIZZY BUCHAN

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Carol said: "I'm more than gobsmailed by this, it's an absolute miracle."

Baldrick returned to Carol on the 35th anniversary of the opening of her animal sanctuary which she said was the best present she could have wished for.

Carol added: "I can't wait to find out where he has been."

"I feel since he has been picked up by the police he must have left a trail of destruction somewhere."

Carol issued a warning to potential terrapin buyers as she said the pets can live for more than 100 years so owners have to be prepared to look after them in the long term.

She said: "I've had to put mine in my will as they may outlive me."

"They are a long-term project but so worth it."

Back home: Baldrick has been returned safely to his owner Carol Outhwaite. Right – with his foster mum Fay Drayton and PCSO Ryan Wilson who found him while on patrol.

Prison worker is jailed after bid to smuggle drugs

TWO men involved in smuggling heroin into Highpoint Prison have been jailed.

Prison worker Alex Sheppard, 22, was sentenced to 28 months' imprisonment for attempting to smuggle one package of heroin and one package of cannabis to serving prisoner Adam Bloy, 25.

Bloy received six years at the hearing on Monday at Ipswich Crown Court after both had pleaded guilty to two offences of conspiracy to supply controlled drugs.

After hearing evidence from a senior prison officer, Judge John Holt said he believed Sheppard had been threatened by Bloy, which resulted in him attempting to smuggle in drugs.

Sheppard, of John Davis Way, Watlington, near King's Lynn, was caught on May 27 last year as he arrived for a night shift at HMP Highpoint, near Haverhill.

During a spot check, guards found he was carrying one package of heroin and one package of cannabis in his rucksack. The intended recipient of the drugs was Bloy, of Woodward Avenue, King's Lynn, who was serving a sentence for robbery.

The court heard that Sheppard owned up immediately to senior prison officer Andrew Stone, who said he appeared to be anxious and had asked for protection for his family, claiming someone had come to their home earlier in the day and made threats.

Bloy alleged that Sheppard was smuggling in the drugs to him in return for the promise of a cash payment of £300.

Bloy said that Sheppard, who was in financial difficulties, had seemed "quite happy" to do it.

Judge Holt said he believed that Sheppard would never have received the payment even if he had been successful in smuggling the drugs into the prison for Bloy.

Council will check interest to bring back the town's carnival

BRINGING back the Haverhill carnival was proposed at a town council meeting on Tuesday.

Cllr Brian Hawes called for floats to line the streets of the town again after a break of two decades.

He said: "Twenty years ago we used to have Haverhill Carnival and I wanted to build on the atmosphere after the Olympic Torch relay."

"Why can't we investigate the possibility?"

A number of nearby towns put on an annual carnival, including Saffron Walden, but Haverhill councillors said these are often organised by groups such as the rotary club, not the town council.

Cllr Maureen Byrne said she remembered the carnival when she first moved to Haverhill but felt health and safety legislation had made the idea too costly.

She said: "I think it's good to look at it but I think the expense would be too much for us to finance it."

She suggested a carnival without floats as a way of cutting costs.

Cllr Les Ager was also interested in the idea but said the route would need to go through the High Street and not around the town.

He said: "People won't come into the town if the floats go past their houses."

"I think people should come to the carnival so there are money-making opportunities for local shops."

Concerns were raised about whether staff at the council would be overstretched if they had to help organise a carnival.

The town council nominated Cllr Hawes to write to local organisations and see if there was enough interest in the town.

EVERY bride wants to look and feel their best, and a looming wedding often provides an incentive for healthy weight loss.

This was certainly the case for Corrie Summers, who joined her local Slimming World group after her weight began to rule her life.

She says: "After the birth of my second child I became really depressed about my weight. I wanted to feel beautiful on my wedding day and knew that I wouldn't."

After a friend joined the group, Corrie went along too. She says: "During the first week I thought, 'I must be doing this wrong', because I was eating lots, and never went hungry, but when I got to the next meeting I'd lost five-and-a-half pounds!"

She adds happily: "I reached my target weight three weeks before the wedding, losing a total of 5st

10. I felt a million dollars on my wedding day."

The Slimming World programme is based on healthy 'free' foods, which you can enjoy as much as you want, as well as the occasional treat – Corrie maintains she enjoyed a small chocolate bar every day.

Walk this way: toga-clad women step out last Saturday to raise funds for St Nicholas Hospice Care.

CP.

Here come the girls . . . !

TOGA-CLAD ladies took the town by storm last Saturday and raised an estimated £118,000 for a local hospice.

More than 750 women took part in the fourth annual Girls Night Out walk in Bury St Edmunds to raise money for St Nicholas Hospice Care.

Everyone set off from Angel Hill at 8pm to walk a route of either six or 11 miles around the town following a Zumba warm-up to get the walkers ready.

Camille Berriman, of St Nicholas Hospice Care, said: "It was just incredible.

"You have hundreds of women all dressed in togas and you can see everyone was in the mood to have a great time."

Around the town there were water stands manned by topless men as well as performances by majorettes and live music.

Camille said: "There are sore feet by the end but when everyone gets back to Angel Hill the atmosphere is amazing.

"That's what the walk is famous for."

The fun kicks off at 12.30pm including a bouncy castle and other entertainment.

Doors open at 7pm. Tickets cost £15 in advance or £18 on the door and can be purchased in advance at Premier Tyres, in Reed Lane, Haverhill.

Burglar is fined

A MAN has been fined for burglary at a restaurant in Haverhill.

Lee Stopforth, 22, of Cangle Junction admitted the offence committed on August 25 at Frankie and Benny's, in Ehringshausen Way.

He was ordered to pay £150 fine and £85 costs, plus a £15 victim surcharge, by West Suffolk magistrates on September 11.

Hoodies rob teen in town

HOODED men threatened a 16-year-old boy in Haverhill on Saturday, demanding cash and his mobile phone.

Police are appealing for witnesses following the robbery which happened in an alleyway off the High Street at around 2am.

The boy was approached by two men who demanded he hand over his money and his Blackberry Curve mobile phone.

Both men were described as white, of medium build and around 5ft 10-11in tall.

One man wore a navy hooded top and dark, baggy jeans while the other had a dark grey or black hoodie on.

Anyone with any information on the incident should call Det Con Paul Gant at Bury St Edmunds CID on 0101 or call Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Project for youngsters has support

A MUSIC and media production programme for young people deemed at risk has been backed by Haverhill Town Council.

The proposal, which is currently called the Hangar Session, would provide regular Friday night sessions for 12 to 16-year-olds with a nationally recognised Bronze Arts Award Qualification at the end for those who complete the programme.

A range of different artists, such as beat boxers, DJs, graffiti artists and street dancers, would be involved to spark interest in creative industries.

Participants would have an online portfolio where they can track their progress which could be shown to the potential employers.

Organisers want to launch the programme on November 2, split into three 12-week blocks which would each cater for 15 young people.

At a meeting of the leisure and community committee on Tuesday, members of the council agreed to support the idea and promised to look into providing some funding.

The pioneering project requires more than £17,000 to get it off the ground and applications have been made already to other sources.

BY LIZZY BUCHAN

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Cllr Gary Stroud, who chaired the meeting, said: "This is definitely something we need to be involved with."

Cllr Maureen Byrne agreed: "I think it's a fantastic opportunity and if there is a qualification at the end then the kids will know they are working towards something really good."

She said the town council should approach ONE Haverhill about raising some of the money, an umbrella organisation which is currently accepting applications for community grants.

Cllr Byrne added: "If ONE Haverhill is really serious about making a difference in this town then this project is essential."

The Hangar session would feed into activities for over 16s already organised at Media Hub, in Haverhill Arts Centre.

Change to our High Street is not a threat

Sir, I read with interest the views on the High Street expressed in last week's Haverhill Weekly News letters page.

Dennis Richard asks how many were surveyed by the town council in reaching a figure of 70% in favour of pedestrianisation from 10am to 4pm. The answer is 754, or just over 3% of the population. It might not seem many, but rest assured that it's a much bigger sample than would be needed to show that it represents the view of the town. I could give a detailed statistical explanation, but to save you the boredom, I can confirm that by the time we had spoken to 200 people the pattern of 70% in favour was clear and did not move significantly from then on.

We could have contacted all 25,000 residents at huge expense, but I can say with confidence that the outcome would have been the same. Rest assured there were no lies, Dennis, just a much bigger sample than yours.

Given this great majority view in the town, the question is no longer whether to pedestrianise; we now need to consider how and when, taking account of the needs of traders, blue badge holders and other interests. The town council's view is that change is not a threat to our High Street – it is failure to change, to adapt to the new challenges presented by out-of-town and online shopping that will lead to further decline. What we have in our favour is a town centre that could offer everything we need in a relaxed and friendly setting. To reach that goal we need a wider range of shops. People will only come to Haverhill if the environment is right for shoppers and we provide a shopping area that is safe to walk around, without having to negotiate an endless stream of moving and parked vehicles. You only need to shop on a Saturday to see how much better our town centre could be.

As for the immediate problems of illegal parking, and use of the High Street as a cut-through, the town council is working with the police and other agencies to find a workable and affordable solution. We think the answer is to stop it at its source, by preventing unauthorised driving along the High Street in the first place rather than by punishing people after they have done it. We agree with Mr Twinn, who rightly points at the lack of determination to see this issue through over many years, and we will continue to press the county and borough councils (who have the power and the money to make pedestrianisation happen) to deliver what Haverhill has asked for. Your views, given by our substantial survey, represent a major step forward in our campaign.

past three months. That, in my calculation, over a period of 92 days, would be one ticket issued every two days. Does he really expect that to solve the problem? No wonder the situation there is not improving.

'Take Away Alley' ie Queen Street is just as bad. The cause, in my opinion, is because drivers are too lazy to use the car parks and walk. I would question whether someone is waiting for a serious accident to happen, when someone is killed or badly injured. I hope it never happens but if it does who is going to accept the blame when it could have been avoided had the police done their job in the first place.

We're always happy to help local residents

Sir, we would like to thank all the residents who came in and saw us at the last surgery. There were lots of different issues for us to work on and every person we saw has had a response.

We are having another surgery in the library on Saturday from 10am to noon and look forward to seeing more people. We deal with issues across both county and borough councils and direct people to other organisations, if they are more appropriate, to deal with the problem. If you are not sure if your problem is something we can deal with then please do drop in and have a word and we can then see how we can help.

Elderly urged to switch on to free television

RESIDENTS over 75 can tune into their television favourites for nothing with a free TV licence for their birthday.

More than 1,500 people in Haverhill already taken advantage of the offer and others are encouraged to do the same.

Anyone over 75 can register for the concession, which covers the whole property, including television owned by family members or carers living in the house.

Janet Morrison, chief executive of Independent Age, said: "We know from experience just how much many older people value their TVs.

"For many, television is a great source of information and fun but for those who find it difficult to get out and about due to ill health or mobility problems, it can also be a much-needed source of company.

"Many older people live on very limited incomes, so the free television licence that is available to people aged 75 and over is a really valued concession."

Short-term licences are available for 74-year-olds to cover the period before the free licence is available.

To apply for the first time, fill in a form online at www.tvlicensing.co.uk/over75 with your name, address, date of birth and national insurance number.

Swashbuckling pupils mark pirate anniversary

PINT-sized pirates took charge of a pre-school yesterday as part of a worldwide celebration.

Thurlow, Bradley and District Pre-school, in Little Thurlow, organised the swashbuckling shindig in honour of the 10th anniversary of International Talk Like a Pirate Day.

Children greeted their friends with shouts of "ahoy, matey" and put on a costume parade as well as painting pirate pictures and playing games.

The hungry shipmates snacked on ship's biscuits and cannonball raisins before washing it all down with apple "grog".

Claire Addison, committee secretary at the school, said: "Now, it may be important to remind children that while pirates were, in fact, bad people who did bad things, we are celebrating the spirit of adventure and the human need to engage in the act of discovery."

"By learning about this we had a day which was educational, creative and fun."

She added: "The children all had such a fun-filled day and wanted to know when we can do this again."

Trekkers walk with dinosaurs

BY LIZZY BUCHAN

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

TWO best friends from Haverhill have raised more than £2,000 for charity by trekking the Jurassic Coast to raise money for treatment of a degenerative disease.

Nic Lowry-Westwood, 41, of Chaplains Close, and Kat Rudd, 44, of Cardinal Way, took on the Jurassic Coast Trek in Dorset and East Devon, so named for the richness of its fossil deposits, to raise money for Motor Neurone Disease Association in honour of Nic's mum Carol, who died last year.

They finished the 36km walk from Swanage to Durdle Door last the weekend, finishing the journey in two days.

Nic said the walk helped to give her something to focus on after losing her mum to motor neurone disease, a degenerative condition which can lead to loss of mobility, speech, swallowing and breathing.

She added: "It was absolutely fantastic and we are still raring to go again. It was just an amazing experience for a very good cause."

"The sponsorship money raised will help make a difference to those who are suffering from this terrible disease."

Kat said: "We would like to thank everyone for their generosity in helping us to raise such a great amount of money."

Probe call after funding cuts

COUNCILLORS have called for an investigation after the announcement that funding for Christmas lights in Haverhill is to be cut by St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

Town councillors want to know how stringent cuts have been over the past four years.

At a meeting of Haverhill Town Council on September 4, town clerk Will Austin told councillors the borough council had offered £10,000 in funding for the lights, either as a lump sum or as £5,000 per year. He urged the council to accept the lump sum in case funds dried up next year.

Cllr Maureen Byrne said: "Cuts have come in dribs and drabs so I don't think anyone realises how severe they have been."

A spokesperson for St Edmundsbury Borough Council said: "As a close partner, Haverhill Town Council is aware of the deepening financial pressures the borough council is anticipating in 2013 / 14 and beyond, and the difficulty this presents in committing to future funding."

Church to host harvest event

HARVEST time will be celebrated next weekend.

St Mary's Church, in Haverhill, is hosting its Hart Festival from September 28 to 30, from 10am until 4pm each day. Children will show their art work in the midst of floral displays. Tea and cake will be on offer. The service will start at 11.30am on Sunday.

Garden blaze

FIREFIGHTERS were called to a blaze in a garden in Ovington Place, Haverhill, on Wednesday evening. The fire was put out and the crew returned to base within 15 minutes.

Travellers move on from site

TRAVELLERS camped on the outskirts of Haverhill have moved on following a court order given last Thursday.

Bury St Edmunds Magistrates' Court issued the order after travellers failed to comply with an eviction notice demanding they leave the site in Bergamot Road by September 6.

The makeshift camp sprang up on August 28, with five caravans setting up at the site near a children's playground.

Mobile apps to improve service

BY LIZZY BUCHAN

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

LOCALS can get app happy with mobile programmes to contact their council.

Suffolk County Council has launched seven new mobile phone apps in a bid to make services more accessible, including an app to speak to a local councillor and one to show if local schools are open in the snow.

Apps were developed by nearly 60 members of the public in June and top prize went to 17-year-old Thomas O'Brian, from Woodbridge School, near Ipswich, with his design of a school closure app.

He said: "I can't quite believe how much my idea has taken off. I've now got a contract with an international IT company, Jadu, and my work will, hopefully, make a difference to people."

"Before the app development day, I'd only had a bit of computer programming experience."

Handy ideas: for phone users

"But when it came to it, I took a simple idea and tried to make something that would make life easier for lots of people."

Cllr Jane Storey, cabinet member for finance and IT, said: "The way local people have come forward and helped us to develop these apps so quickly shows just how much interest there is."

The county council are planning to introduce app programming skills into schools to give children the chance to develop programming skills from an early age.

Sally Rundell, Suffolk County Council's assistant director for learning and improvement, said: "Our children and young people are living in a world where digital technologies are everywhere and this isn't going to change.

"We need to ensure that they continue to receive the best possible education to equip them for their futures."

Young people with diabetes are also invited to an app designing workshop on October 13 at West Suffolk Hospital.

Dr Binu Anand, consultant paediatrician, said: "Young people with Type One diabetes come into hospital four times a year for a check-up, which only gives us a snapshot of their condition."

"We hope that developing this new technology will not only improve their quality of life, but also help us to monitor their condition more fully and minimise their chances of developing complications as they get older."

Ideas include an app to measure blood sugar and a one where diabetics can calculate the carbohydrate content of food to see how much insulin they need.

Young readers up for their summer challenge

BOOK worms received a certificate on Sunday for completing a reading challenge.

More than 270 children took part in the Summer Reading Challenge at Haverhill Library where they were encouraged to read six books over the summer holidays.

Kids could sign up online and track their progress as well as playing online games.

Kate Ashton, assistant manager of Haverhill Library, said: "It was very successful and we had a great turnout."

"272 started the challenge and 172 children finished it so we had a really good response."

"Those who didn't finish the challenge still read one, two or three books which is fantastic."

Mayor Pat Hanlon presented the medals to the keen readers at the library in Camps Road alongside Cllr Anne Gower from St Edmundsbury Borough Council and Karen Richardson.

Pleased to meet you: Jane Basham, the Labour candidate for Suffolk Police and Crime Commissioner, far right, at Haverhill market.

Shoppers take chance to talk with candidate

THE Labour party candidate for a top police job met residents to discuss what she would do for the town.

Jane Basham, the Labour candidate for Suffolk Police and Crime Commissioner (PCC), visited Haverhill last Saturday ahead of the elections on November 15 which will see PCCs replace police authorities which currently oversee the force.

PCCs will set priorities, hire the chief constable and oversee budgets in their area.

Ms Basham met members of the Haverhill and Kedington Labour Party at their stall in Haverhill market and talked to residents and shoppers about their concerns.

Cllr Maureen Byrne said: "We

BY LIZZY BUCHAN

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

are fortunate to have a high calibre candidate, with extensive experience in public service, including direct senior experience with the police service.

"Jane brings an understanding of the challenges faced by our police officers and a welcome insight into the needs and concerns of all our residents and traders."

Pat Hanlon, Haverhill town mayor, said: "The Labour Party in Suffolk has selected Jane as our candidate to protect our police service against the effects of huge budget cuts and the creeping privatisation which we believe threaten frontline police services across Suffolk.

"Vulnerable people in our community rely on effective public services for their well-being and comfort."

"Our police officers and support staff need our support to enable them to properly resource the services we have prioritised."

Ms Basham has previous senior management within the police and was the chief executive of civil rights charity Ipswich and Suffolk Council for Race Equality until April.

The Conservative candidate for the post is Jim Passmore, an agricultural and rural business consultant and leader of Mid Suffolk Council.

The finalised list of candidates will be announced on October 19.

Unpaid work order for cannabis case

A HAVERHILL man who grew his own cannabis has been ordered to carry out unpaid community work.

Simon Plumridge, 30, of Willow Close, was caught when police raided a house in the town on June 13.

Officers found 11 wraps of cannabis with a street value of £165 together with three cannabis plants under cultivation and which would have produced an estimated £360 worth of the illegal drug.

On Monday, Ipswich Crown Court heard how plant food, lighting, two sets of scales and £170 in cash was also recovered.

Plumridge had pleaded guilty at an earlier hearing to possession of cannabis with intent to supply and production of cannabis.

After being arrested Plumridge said he had purchased 15 wraps of cannabis, all for his own use except three which he had obtained for a friend.

The plants were being grown entirely for his own use.

Prosecutor Robert Sadd said that while Plumridge had a number of previous convictions, none had been for the offences for which he now appeared in court to be sentenced.

Defending, Richard Potts said, while Plumridge had a poor record of complying with court orders, he had indicated that he was anxious to co-operate and would take time off work as a self-employed pipe fitter currently in Cambridge to complete his unpaid community work as quickly as possible.

Judge Rupert Overbury imposed a 12-month community order with a requirement for Plumridge to complete 60 hours of unpaid community work and pay £85 towards the cost of the prosecution.

In addition, Judge Overbury banned Plumridge from being in possession or use any hydroponic equipment for any form of cultivation of plants during the next 12 months. All the cannabis and equipment seized by police will be forfeited.

On the ball: the girls celebrate victory in the netball match.

Girl power earns a fundraising win

A BATTLE of the sexes took place at a netball match as part of a challenge to raise money for a hospice.

AXA Insurance, in High Street, Haverhill, has raised more than £7,000 for St Nicholas Hospice Care as part of the Towergate Accumulator Challenge, where businesses are given a £50 note and charged with making as much money as possible from it in three months.

Julie Dickie, customer relations co-ordinator at AXA, said they organised the sporting events as they had never done an event like it before and people were keen to be involved.

She said: "The girls were very competitive at the netball and they won 15-10 so they did put up a good fight."

The netball was followed by a football match but, as there were more boys and girls, the teams were mixed.

AXA have also organised a raffle and bucket collections.

Richard has focus on a special kind of magic

Card tricks: Richard Morris has been performing close-up magic since he was a boy.

Picture: 856274

Despite being registered blind, Richard Morris is a brilliant magician, sings in a band and, at the age of 62, has just taken up Aikido. Ahead of this weekend's fundraising night in Huntingdon, he tells his story of overcoming disability to 'fit in with the world'. Interview by ALICE RYAN.

SEEING a magic trick performed at close quarters – shiny coins appearing and disappearing at will, just inches from your nose – is always impressive. But when the magician in question is registered blind, the feat becomes breathtaking.

For Richard Morris, better known to his friends as 'Rocky', such sleight of hand is second nature. Despite having impaired vision since birth, and being declared blind in his early 40s, the 62-year-old has been performing close-up magic since he was a boy – and even spent a spell as an escapologist, freeing himself Houdini-style from handcuffs, padlocked boxes and straitjackets.

"Perhaps my most memorable escape was from a locked box with dynamite strapped to it; I did that at a pub in Ely and it attracted quite a crowd," remembers Richard.

"I was handcuffed, put into a sack which was chained and locked at the top, then put into the box, which was also padlocked shut. The dynamite was set to ignite when a timer reached zero; I made it out with a second to spare.

"It must sound a bit crazy for a man with impaired sight to take up magic.

"But becoming a magician, in a way, has put me on an equal footing with the rest of the world. When I was small I felt inferior to fully-sighted people because of all the things I couldn't do, which they could do without thinking. Now I can do lots of things that most fully-sighted people can't.

"Recently I heard someone say 'If some of us could fly, even Usain Bolt would seem disabled' and I think that's very true. No matter what your disability, you can find something you're good at; something that makes you feel good about yourself."

Richard's parents realised he had impaired sight when he was a tiny baby. Noticing that his eyes didn't latch on to faces or toys, they took him to the doctor and, after numerous tests, he was declared totally blind.

At the time, not long after the war, Richard's family was living in a Nissen hut on Ely Golf Course. A flight of five stone steps ran up to the front door. "One day, when I was a toddler, I took a tumble from the top to the bottom and banged my head pretty badly. Within a couple of days, my parents realised I was seeing things; it turned out part of my sight had come back."

Though this was an amazing breakthrough, Richard says his sight was still very poor – and began to deteriorate again almost straight away. By the age of 42, he was registered blind and given a guide dog; he still relies on a dog (currently a lovable yellow Labrador called Gaston, born and trained in Norway).

He suffers from three separate conditions: nystagmus (uncontrolled eye movement, which makes it hard to focus), photophobia (extreme sensitivity to light) and severe myopia (shortsightedness).

"Sitting here now, I can see shapes but I can't see any detail, so I couldn't tell you what all the shapes are. Because we're in my own home, it's obviously much easier to make out what's what. But if I go outside, even on a dull day, my eyes can't handle the light and I find it hard to see anything. The best time of day for me is actually dusk."

At the age of five, Richard was sent away to a specialist school. "My mother wasn't that happy about it. But in lots of ways it was the best thing: there's no way I would have coped in a class of 30, trying to see past rows of people to the blackboard."

It was during a school holiday, when Richard was 11, that a 'daft uncle' came to stay – and introduced his young nephew to magic. "I'm one of six children, but I was the only one that really got hooked. He could do amazing things with a coin, a glass and a newspaper, and he also did this 'mind reading' number where he'd lay out objects on a table, leave the room and ask us to touch just one thing. He'd come back in, feel each object in turn, then say 'It was that one'. To me, at 11, it was amazing – real magic."

Back at school, Richard took a slim volume out of the library: a guide to five sleights of hand, including famed vanishing technique the 'French drop', he pored over it for a whole half-term holiday – then spent the next three months honing his skills. "Once you know the French drop, you can do a hundred tricks," explains Richard, showing a 10p piece in his palm and then, quick as a flash, making it vanish into thin air. "That's the French drop: it's a classic. One thing I struggled with was looking guilty: I felt bad about pulling the wool over people's eyes ... in a way, you have to learn to be a criminal to be a magician."

For a painfully shy boy, discovering an aptitude for magic tricks was a revelation in more ways than one. "I couldn't even chat up a girl until I was 30. Well, no, that's not quite true ... but I was horribly shy. I realised I could go into a room absolutely full of strangers, do a trick or two and suddenly a crowd would gather round me. I was still shy, but nobody knew it."

First pursuing a career as an engineer, latterly retraining as a telephonist, magic remained a serious hobby for Richard for decades. A huge fan of Houdini, he spent hour after hour teaching himself how to escape from knotted ropes, locked chains, handcuffs and a straitjacket.

"My brother helped me a lot with that. At the beginning you need someone there to let you out if you can't free yourself; I think I once spent 50 minutes wrapped in chains ..."

Physical fitness and dexterity are, adds Richard, key: "I have to say I wouldn't attempt it now!"

Coming from a musical family, Richard also learned sax and piano and took up singing: he is now lead singer of local band Time

Best friends: Richard with his guide dog Gaston.

Machine, specialising in 60s classics. Reading music is a struggle – Richard commits most tunes to memory – but he can just about read lyrics if they're printed out on a very large scale: "When we do gigs I put them on a stand in front of me; I think most people in the back row can read them ..."

Richard often cracks little jokes at his expense. "If you get in there first, it puts other people off having a go. When I was younger I have to admit I got into a few fights because of things people said that were supposed to be funny; nowadays I just tend to say 'What's the problem? At least I can read in the dark'."

Although Richard does read Braille, he says modern technology makes standard text far more accessible: even his iPhone has a handy zoom setting.

Richard and his band are about to play at a 60s night at Huntingdon's Montagu Club. Held both to raise cash for charity and give local people a good time, the event is the idea of his wife, Diane. The couple met in a pub, thanks to a previous guide dog – a black Labrador called Morris. "I went over to talk to the dog, got talking to Richard, and ended up falling in love with them both," smiles Diane. "He really is amazing. He doesn't let his disability hold him back at all: he's 62 and just taken up Aikido."

Diane is a founder member of Huntingdon's fundraising group Hullabaloo, which organises the town's annual 10K run. The 60s night is their latest project. Raising funds for three charities – Hinchingsbrook Special Care Baby Unit, Young Carers and Huntingdon Community Radio – the aim is to sell over 200 tickets. "As well as raising money for good causes, we want to bring really good entertainment to local people: the music will be fantastic, and it should get everyone dancing."

After being registered blind, in the early 90s, Richard admits he found it hard to get a job – and so decided to become a magician and performer full-time. A favourite at parties and charity nights, he has a wide repertoire of tricks up his sleeve and can even 'read' minds.

A signature trick, of his own invention, involves asking someone to flick through a pack of cards, alight on one and hold the image of it in their mind (while staring into his eyes). Next thing they know, Richard has vanished that one card – which then reappears under the chair they're sitting on. "I can't possibly tell you how that one works," says Richard, with a definite twinkle. "To be honest I don't quite know myself ..."

"My advice to anyone with a disability is 'Find something you're good at'," Richard concludes. "It doesn't matter what it is – music, painting, even magic. It will make people take you more seriously; it makes them realise that you are capable, that you can contribute to society."

"The world's not going to fit in with you, so you have to overcome your problems and fit in with the world."

The Hullabaloo 60s Night takes place on Saturday night at Huntingdon's Montagu Club.

Tickets cost £5 and can be bought in advance from Simply Music – visit 10 Chequers Court, Huntingdon, or call (01480) 431222 – or on the door on the night.

Be sure you're ready for the

Pets aren't accessories:
They will become a central part of your life!

PETS can make a house feel like a home, and there's even evidence that owning one can be good for you.

People who regularly walk a dog, or stroke a cat are often reported as having lower blood pressure and feeling calmer than those who don't.

However, the decision to share your home with someone furry, feathery or even scaly, should not be taken lightly. An animal is a responsibility, and it's important to do your research beforehand.

For example, if it's an exotic pet you are keen on, find out how easy it will be to find the food they like – does your pet shop cater for them, or will you need fresh fruit or vegetables, or even live food? Do you know how big your pet will end up? As there are hundreds of documented cases where unsuspecting reptile fans have taken home a 'tiny' snake or lizard, only to find it quickly getting out of hand!

Even smaller animals need some forward planning. If it's a hamster, guinea pig, rat or rabbit you want, can you commit the time needed to clean them out once a week or more, and do you have someone who can look after them when you're away? Also, are they sociable animals, and if so, should you get two boys or two girls? It can be upsetting to buy two animals which don't get along, but staff at your pet shop should be able to advise.

Cats, and dogs in particular, are a big commitment. While you may be prepared for litter trays or poop-scooping, have you considered the hair you will have to clean up, or the potential damage to furniture? If you are getting a young animal, will you have the time to train it and keep it company during the early months? And can you afford the various vaccines and veterinary treatment it will require?

There's no doubt that an animal can provide company, love and lots of mutual happiness, but for the most harmonious household it's better to take your time and do your research first.

Numerous websites have further information, including www.rspca.org.uk, www.bluecross.org.uk and www.petplanet.co.uk, but you can also talk to other pet owners, vets and pet shop staff.

Take your time to do the research: Some animals are less time-consuming!

Affection: Happiness all round.

Castle Partnership is proving to be a hit

PUPILS AND students have just begun the first full academic year at The Castle Partnership Academy Trust.

The All Through Academy chain comprises of Place Farm Primary Academy and Castle Manor Academy and is proving to be a hit with teachers and young people alike. The partnership has been in place for some time, but last year the two schools became converter academies. The conversion means that the academies now share a common leadership and governance structure that, combined with the shared values and principles, aim to combine the primary and secondary phase in order to help students succeed.

Pupils and students benefit from a range of additional opportunities in and around the academy. Primary pupils regularly visit the secondary site to use dedicated facilities that they may not usually get access to in a primary school, including science laboratories, sports facilities, design and technology spaces and even a specialised media space with green screen.

Secondary students are able to work with the primary pupils as young leaders and see the positive impact they can make as role models. In addition to this many of the staff work across both academies, so pupils feel instantly safe and secure when the progress from primary to secondary as they know so many of the staff.

Amy Croson has just joined the partnership as a teacher in the PE team and is looking forward to the new opportunities to work with younger pupils: "When I applied for the job I was very excited about teaching across the phases, as primary teaching is something I had considered."

Amy has recently trained to be a teacher in Northampton after studying for a degree in sport and PE. She has just moved into the area and is already seeing the benefits of the partnership: "One of the rewards is that I will see pupils through PE from year 4 to year 13, which gives us plenty of opportunities to ignite their passion for sport."

Worthwhile experience: Castle Manor Academy open day is on Thursday, September 27.

Amy recognises that it will extend her experience and is worthwhile for the students: "It is a challenge to teach a year 4 class followed by a year 12 class as the strategies I use to teach are different. This really is an eye opener though and it will allow me, and others, to build positive relationships with the pupils and ease their transition from primary to secondary education."

Amy joins staff from many subject areas that work across the academies and all have similar challenges and rewards to look forward to. For many this isn't new as they have been working as part of a partnership between the schools for some years, but it is an exciting development in the future of the academies.

The long-term plan is for both academies to be housed on a single All Through Campus on the Castle Manor Academy site. This site is big enough for a purpose-built academy, with state of the art facilities that Haverhill can really be proud of. The Castle Partnership Academy Trust is currently working on plans for this new facility and are investigating ways to bring investment to the town for this project.

Castle Manor Academy is holding an open evening on Thursday, September 27 at 6pm and welcomes pupils in years 5 and 6 to come and tour the campus and see what is offered.

course at another college, completing with a top grade. One element of the course was accounting, Scott's favourite subject.

He was looking on the National Apprenticeship Service (NAS) website for an accounting apprenticeship, when the AAT (Association of Accounting Technicians) Level 2 course at West Suffolk College came up.

Scott will be spending four days a week in the finance office, and one day in the classroom on the AAT course.

He said: "I really enjoy being here; everyone here has been very welcoming. I have a good laugh with some of the teachers and the other administration and finance staff.

Teaching staff have been very helpful; they spent a lot of time talking to us about the different options."

In his job role, Scott is dealing with tax receipts, SagePay and bank reconciliation among other tasks.

West Suffolk College also runs a number of programmes for young people who need help in deciding how to progress into education or employment, from pathways to apprenticeships, to the Prince's Trust team programmes.

EDUCATIONAL OPEN EVENTS 2012

Samuel Ward at top of its game

SAMUEL WARD is one of the highest performing schools in Suffolk, with results far above the national average in some of the most demanding subjects for six key reasons:

■ The academy believes that pupils thrive best when they are in small groups. That is why tutor groups have a maximum of 15 pupils, years 7 and 8 are nurtured in their own purpose-designed building, and all pupils are part of a house system.

■ Pupils make rapid progress

Rapid progress: Pupils thrive at Samuel Ward.

Creating their own future: Pupils at Samuel Ward have every opportunity to develop an extensive skill set at the school.

in years 7 and 8 because of tailored teaching approaches and most reach national year 9 standards one year early, giving them more time on GCSE.

■ All pupils from year 7 are taught leadership skills leading to a range of accredited awards including work in primary schools and leadership of learning at

Samuel Ward.

■ Hobbies, interests and competitive sports are a key part of a pupil's wider development and that is why enrichment is compulsory for years 7, 8 and 9 for three nights per week. Pupils select from nearly 60 activities and grow in confidence and skills.

■ With strong links with European countries and

'International' status all pupils have the opportunity to broaden their experience, preparing them for sixth form and university.

■ Pupils are taught strong moral values through a small meeting with their learning coach every morning. This does not only give them a sense of place but additionally engenders respect, responsibility and resilience.

Although Samuel Ward is a very popular school and is often oversubscribed, most pupils that apply as their first choice do gain a place.

If you would like to be a part of the Samuel Ward experience, please come and visit and experience the school's ethos: "the best way to predict the future..... is to create it....".

Dogs set to race again

RACING terriers will be tearing up the tracks at a fête on Sunday.

After four years off, the dogs are back in the Olympic year as the star attraction at Shimpling and Alpheton Fete, at Shimpling Park Farm.

Lucky auction winners can walk away with a wine tasting session and a four-day holiday in Wales.

The fun starts at 1.30pm and entrance costs £1, to raise funds for the two village churches.

No dogs are allowed on the site except the terriers.

In line for top award

AN ESTATE agent from Haverhill has been shortlisted for a national award for the third year in a row.

Conference 'honour' for campaigner

A VETERAN campaigner for prostate cancer said he was "honoured" to attend a party conference this weekend.

John Snell, 67, of St Edmund Close in Ixworth, was diagnosed with the disease in 2008 and has campaigned since then for charity Prostate UK to increase awareness of the disease.

He was chosen to go to the Liberal Democrat Conference in Brighton from Saturday to Wednesday to campaign for quality care standards to be set throughout the country as there is currently no set standard.

John said he was lucky because his cancer was discovered early and he was operated on at Addenbrooke's Hospital by a Da Vinci Robot, a machine which performs intricate prostate surgery.

He said: "I was lucky, but it should not be down to luck, and need not be if men are more aware of the symptoms and get the necessary tests done as soon as noticed."

"A simple blood test can be used to check the presence of the disease and, if caught early, there are more treatment options available."

Getting the message across: prostate cancer campaigner John Snell.

John hopes to push prostate cancer up the political agenda by attending the conference and to put pressure on MPs and local councillors to improve care.

Several members of the charity campaigned in March for quality care standards to be set as care can vary all over the country, creating a postcode lottery.

John said: "I feel very sad when a guy loses his life through lack of awareness of the disease and if the work I do saves just one person I will consider it all worthwhile."

He added: "It's going to be a bit of fun but it's very important we get the message across."

"I'm honoured to be able to go."

Pink passion

RIFFS from the classic age of rock will be heard in Cambridge when The Pink Floyd Dimension take to the stage at The Junction on Friday. Hailing from Cambridge, Pink Floyd's home town, TPDF features an orchestra of eight rock musicians with a wealth of experience from playing with such diverse bands as Estelle, Katrina and The Waves, The Enid, The David Cross Band and The Young Punx.

The band formed for charity reasons in the late 00s and has gradually evolved taking on ever greater musical challenges.

The current line-up came together in 2010 and is now refining and honing its audio and visual work.

They aim to be the most accurate tribute to the music of Pink Floyd, having spent hours painstakingly dissecting the classic works of the band so they can be performed live as originally recorded. TPDF's eight members are all needed to cover the minor parts that bring the music to life.

The show is not about gimmicks or fancy dress. It is about the music of Pink Floyd played by people who have grown up with and love it accompanied by an arresting projector and laser show. This is a group of genuine enthusiasts recreating authentic Pink Floyd.

■ The Pink Floyd Dimension, Friday, doors open at 7pm. Tickets £12 adv. Call 01223 511 511 or go to www.junction.co.uk

Focus falls on folk

A DOUBLE bill featuring some of the rising stars of the folk scene comprises the next Acoustic Routes concert in Cambridge on Saturday.

BBC Radio 2 Horizon Award nominees Katriona Gilmore and Jamie Roberts combine astounding lap-tapping guitar, fiery fiddle and their trademark harmonies with considerable songwriting talent to make a truly distinctive sound.

Since releasing their debut album Shadows & Half Light in 2008, Gilmore and Roberts have been wowing audiences across the country with their unassumingly confident displays of instrumental technique.

Aside from their work together, both Katriona and Jamie are in high demand as session musicians and have played on several acclaimed albums. Katriona has previously toured as part of Tiny Tin Lady and with Rosie Doonan's Snapdragons, and recently joined the newly reformed Albion Band, while Jamie has played with young English traditionalists Kerfuffle since 2007.

Cambridge-based band The Willows are a group that take their influences from Americana and Country to the broad array of British and Irish Folk Music; bringing together both traditional and contemporary Roots Music.

Not only is their ability as players gaining recognition, they unusually have three songwriters in the band which adds a depth of styles and flavours not often heard. Described as traditionally beautiful yet contemporary and alternative, this band leave you wanting more every time.

Tickets for the event, at 8.30pm at CB2 in Norfolk Street, Cambridge, are £8 and can be booked at www.acousticroutes.co.uk.

STRINGS AND THINGS: guitar and fiddle from Katriona Gilmore and Jamie Roberts, coming to CB2 on Saturday.

As the Cambridge Film Festival rolls on, we bring you another look at some of the best up-and-coming screenings

Confessions Of A Child Of The Century (15) September 21

Cannes award winner Charlotte Gainsbourg (Melancholia) stars opposite Pete Doherty in his film debut. Doherty plays Octave, a young and beautiful libertine who witnesses his lover being unfaithful. Despair leads to decadence, until he meets a young widow Brigitte and they embark on a relationship. But with one broken heart already Octave is quick to rise to suspicion and in a world where love is fragile will he be strong enough to stay faithful.

Also starring recent Cambridge graduate Lily Cole, August Diehl

(Inglourious Basterds) and Joséphine de La Baume (Boogie Woogie).

5 Broken Cameras (12A) September 22

Filmed from the perspective of a Palestinian farm labourer (Emad Burnat), 5 Broken Cameras was shot using six different video cameras – five of which were destroyed in the process of filming. Emad, who lives in Bil'in, just west of the city of Ramallah in the West Bank, was thrust into global politics when his community peacefully resisted Israeli plans to erect a wall through their land to separate them from the ever-growing Israeli settlements. Initially given the camera to chronicle the birth and childhood of his son Gibril, the film captures Gibril growing into a precocious preschooler over six years, against the backdrop of the many non-violent protests that have become an intrinsic part of life in Bil'in.

Holy Motors (18) September 23

Holy Motors, by French maverick Leos Carax (Les Amants Du Pont-Neuf, Pola X), was probably the most talked-about title at Cannes this year. Billed as a film that broke boundaries, this cinematic tour-de-force was described by Guardian critic Peter Bradshaw as 'barking mad', 'weird and wonderful' and 'weightless and euphoric'. From dawn to dusk, we follow a few hours in the life of Monsieur Oscar, a shadowy character who journeys from one life to the next. He is in turn captain of industry, assassin, beggar, monster, family man... Monsieur Oscar is accompanied only by Céline, the slender blonde woman behind the wheel of the vast stretch limo that transports him through and around Paris, and in which he keeps his wardrobe of bizarre disguises. The beguiling cast includes Denis Lavant, Eva Mendes and Kylie Minogue – as you've never seen her before...

Ashes (15) September 23

Frank (Ray Winstone) is confined to a residential home, stricken with Alzheimer's, past, present and future steadily disintegrating. Then, one day, James (Jim Sturgess) appears, wanting to reconnect with a father who no longer knows him. James springs Frank from the home, and the pair go on the run. As their haphazard journey unfolds – funny, violent and tragic by turns – the present merges with imperfect memories of the past, and fact with fiction, and we begin to realise that nothing is quite what it seems. Director of Road To Guantanamo, The Shock Doctrine, and Ian Dury biopic Sex & Drugs & Rock & Roll, Mat Whitecross – a graduate of Revolution Films – follows in mentor Michael Winterbottom's eclectic footsteps by tackling yet another new genre. UK premiere.

Rex come to Haverhill on Saturday at 8pm.

The band plays totally live without the aid of any backing tracks and is devoted to recreating the music, performance and excitement of those heady days of glam rock.

Join us on Friday, September 28 when John Etheridge and The Hannah Horton Quartet will be appearing at the Arts Centre. John Etheridge is one of the world's most respected guitarists.

Not only was he the guitarist for the celebrated jazz violinist, Stephane Grappelli, he plays in a duo with the eminent classical guitarist John Williams and has performed with such greats as Andy Summers, Dizzy Gillespie and Nigel Kennedy. He handles just about any style from 1930s Hot Club swing to Claptonesque blues. Highly-acclaimed jazz saxophonist Hannah Horton leads her quartet with panache, alternating on tenor and baritone saxophones.

She will be joined by John Crawford on piano, Rob Statham on bass and Charlie Price on drums. They're hitting the right notes from 8pm.

The big film

KILLING THEM SOFTLY certificate 18, 1h37m

CRIME does pay and the price tag is your life in this slow-burning crime thriller based on the novel Cogan's Trade by George V Higgins.

Writer-director Andrew Dominik transplants the setting of the book from 1970s Boston to 2008 Louisiana, using the race for the White House between George W Bush and Barack Obama as a backdrop to the skulduggery.

Low-level crook Johnny Amato (Vincent Curatola) learns that mob man Markie Trattman (Ray Liotta) staged a robbery at one of his own card games in order to steal the pot. So Amato hatches a cunning plan to rob another card game and point the finger of suspicion squarely at Markie. He hires Frankie (Scoot McNairy) to pull off the heist, and he in turn recruits unreliable junkie Russell (Ben Mendelsohn) as a second gun man.

Against the odds, Frankie and Russell manage to hold up the card game without accidentally shooting themselves or one of their hostages and they make off with the booty.

Mob go-between Driver (Richard Jenkins) calls in hit man Jackie Cogan (Brad Pitt) to identify the perpetrators and make them pay.

Naturally, Markie is the prime suspect for the robbery but Jackie likes to be thorough and he searches for other likely candidates, hiring another assassin, Mickey (James Gandolfini), to do the dirty work.

When Russell's drug-addled loose lips spill the beans about who really knocked off the card game, Jackie swiftly moves into action.

Killing Them Softly is punctuated with brilliantly orchestrated and stylish explosions of violence, including a breathtaking slow-motion car crash.

Pitt delivers a strong performance as the director delves deep into the psyches of men who operate on the wrong side of the law.

Indeed, the entire ensemble cast is in excellent form, including Gandolfini as a hit man who has allowed his penchant for booze and women to cloud his killing instinct.

Unlike other film-makers who are in a hurry to get to the action set-pieces, Dominik allows conversations to breathe; veiled threats hang in the air, murderous glances are held uncomfortably long and every scene crackles with tension.

And we teeter nervously on the edge of our seats for the entire 97 minutes.

Adding colour to our cooler months

MY container tomatoes have blight, my summer bedding is bedraggled and all my pots are looking a bit forlorn – so there's no better time to cheer myself up with some bright winter candidates.

Autumn and winter don't have to be dull if you have a patio and some pots, because even a pot or two of dainty violas or a mixture of heathers and red-berried evergreens or coloured stems will perk up any outside space.

Autumn leaf colour can be spectacular if you plant one specimen Japanese maple in a pot, such as 'Bloodgood'.

Skimmia 'Rubella' can span three seasons, its fat red buds appearing in autumn and winter and finally opening in spring. Plant it alongside ornamental cabbages and kales, whose leaves provide a rich tapestry of vivid purples and pinks, and you can have a stunning container.

When the sun becomes lower in the sky, arrange your pots in the sunniest corners near windows, where they can be seen from indoors and will provide mutual protection when it's really cold.

by Hannah Stephenson

Plant containers in autumn with at least one long-lasting scheme, including such stalwarts as heuchera, ivy and skimmia.

Seasonal accent plants including heather and chrysanthemum can also be slipped into the display and removed when you want to change the look, without disturbing the roots of the longer-lasting plants.

When the first frosts arrive, faded heathers can be replaced by Skimmia japonica subsp. reevesiana, which will provide a profusion of red berries, while winter-flowering pansies and cyclamen will add colour to the arrangement.

Permanent plants in pots – such as skimmia and heuchera – are pretty tough and fairly tolerant of weather conditions. Autumn-flowering chrysanthemums such as the compact 'Carnival Bicolour' will bear masses of blooms in September, but will need deadheading regularly to prolong flowering.

Plant them in multi-purpose compost with added John Innes and don't overdo the watering, keeping it limited to around once every two weeks, because waterlogged roots will just rot or freeze.

If you want burnt oranges in autumn, choose double daisy-shaped chrysanthemums in deep bronzes and yellows massed in glazed terracotta pots. Contemporary brushed metal containers look great in autumn planted with deep purple or chocolate leaves of heucheras such as H. 'Chocolate Ruffles' coupled with silver-leaved evergreens such as Convolvulus cneorum.

Other great specimens for contemporary pots include the tropical-looking Fatsia japonica, with its gloriously glossy leaves, or with dramatic bamboos and ornamental grasses. Hanging baskets can be planted with an array of foliage plants which provide interest throughout the cooler months, including the Mexican orange blossom (Choisya ternata Sundance), whose bright yellow leaves contrast effectively with the dark foliage of Gaultheria mucronata, which bears brightly coloured berries in shades of white, pink, red or purple.

Male and female plants must be grown together for fruit to form and it's a good plant for winter interest, combining well with other acid-lovers like heathers.

Further colour could be added with violas and variegated euonymus, such as E. fortunei 'Emerald 'n' Gold'.

Deadhead violas to promote a long-lasting display and ease out the stems of the gaultheria to expose the rich berries for all to see. Thinking ahead, you could also plant some dwarf bulbs in your display including irises, fritillaries and ipheions in pots, using a gritty, free-draining bulb compost, to add a welcome splash of colour and herald the start of spring.

MORE than two in five drivers are illegally using hand-held mobiles while at the wheel, with some even taking pictures of crashes, according to an AA/Populus survey.

Of the 42 per cent who used mobiles while driving, 60 per cent said it had distracted them.

As many as 74 per cent of the 21,000 drivers polled said they had seen others using mobile phones on some or most journeys, with 25 per cent seeing mobile use on all trips.

Around 20 per cent admitted using a mobile to send a text, 4 per cent checked emails and 2 per cent even sent emails while at the controls.

Two per cent read Twitter or Facebook updates while at the wheel and 1 per cent even tweeted while driving.

The AA said police in Northamptonshire recorded 80 drivers using phones or cameras to photograph emergency services attempting a four-and-a-half-hour rescue of a 21-year-old driver trapped in her crashed truck on the M1 last month.

AA president Edmund King said: "Drivers need to concentrate on driving rather than be distracted by their digital technology. Our research shows that some drivers are now using their smart phones for more than talking on the move. It is really not smart to talk, text or tweet on the move."

"Digital rubber-neckers who photograph crashes really are morbid voyeurs who should be concentrating on the road, not the victims of crashes. It beggars belief that these macabre motorists should put their lives and others at risk through their lust for twisted metal.

"We would like to see the police target more mobile phone abusers so that the message gets out that it is not worth hanging on the telephone while driving."

"However, we have seen a 29 per cent reduction in traffic police in the last decade so their resources are stretched."

Cambridge Scooter Club in pie'n'mash success

CAMBRIDGE Scooter Club joined a rideout to London on Saturday to raise awareness of the threat to the Cooke's, the legendary pie'n'mash shop in London's Shepherd's Bush, writes Mike Scialom.

"Cambridge Scooter Club

is a very good club in terms of it's been going for a long time, it's well organised and everyone gets on really well with each other," said the organiser of the rideout, Steve Lillistone of A12 SC. "Other clubs from Scarborough, Portsmouth, Kent, Essex and from across London attended."

The event saw 150 scooters turn up to highlight the possible forcible closure of the iconic Cooke's Pie'n'Mash shop, which has been going for more than 100 years and featured in the film Quadrophrenia.

"If the closure goes ahead the colourful, traditional and quirky Goldhawk Road scene will be lost forever," said Cambridge Scooter Club's event organiser Paula Rae.

Newmarket Town 1 Wickhambrook 3
Cambridge & Dist Colts League, under-17A
WICKHAMBROOK eased to a comfortable win in a derby at Newmarket.

The visitors took the lead on 10 minutes when a Jack Child pass found James Percy and he raced away and slotted the ball into the net.

Child hit the inside of the post as Wickhambrook were unable to increase their lead before half time, and the second period saw them hit the woodwork three further times and have a couple of good penalty shouts turned away.

But then David Crowley scored a quick-fire brace. First Percy sent him through and he slotted the ball under the keeper. Then two minutes later skipper Harry Willett sent him clear and he lobbed the keeper.

Newmarket scored a consolation goal two minutes from time.

Percy was man of the match.

Kedington Youth 7 Comberton Crusaders 1
Cambridge & Dist Colts League, under-15A
KEDINGTON took the lead when quick-thinking captain Jason Moore chipped the ball over the defence, allowing Kieran Harrison to break through and score.

Moore then teamed up with Ellis Wiffen for the second. Wiffen's pass to Moore was expertly knocked back into his path as he sprinted through to beat the keeper at the far post.

Kedington's third saw Conor Rankin spin a defender and charge into the area, side-step the out-rushing keeper and score in an empty net.

Comberton rallied and pulled a goal back before Sam Street's ball out to George Mustoe was nicely squared for Harrison to fire home his second.

At the start of the second half Bailey Cassidy teamed up with Mustoe and Rankin to set up Ty Alleyne to score

Crowley at the double

Kedington's fifth. Wiffen then scored his second by latching on to a Cameron Larkin cross. And late in the game, Alleyne scored his second on the rebound as Leon Bailing's blistering shot was parried by the keeper.

Fulbourn Falcons 1 West Wrattling 4
Cambridge & Dist Colts League, under-13A
WEST WRATTING dug deep to secure a well-earned victory.

Wrattling took the lead when Daniel Cordwell strongly saw off two defenders to cross low into the box for William Coleman to slot home.

Cordwell scored Wrattling's second when he ran on to a ball through the middle from Ronnie Ledwith and shot low into the corner. Jayden Bayford sent in a beautifully weighted cross into the box that was met by the head of central defender Josh Santry to send Wrattling into half time 3-0 up.

The second half was to be dominated by Falcons and Wrattling's defence was tested to the full, with Kealan Boon, Kieron Lindsay, Callum Colley and man-of-the-match Santry all impressing.

A long-range Falcon's free kick came off the underside of the Wrattling bar and was scrambled clear and Charlie Mitchison made some fine saves to keep Wrattling's lead secure.

Wrattling scored their fourth when a deep corner landed at substitute Rory Cameron's feet and he scored from close range. Falcons got a late consolation after poor defending allowed an attacker a clear run on goal.

Chatteris Town 0 West Wrattling 15
Cambridge & Dist Colts League, under-11B
JOSHUA Lee smashed a quintet as West Wrattling triumphed 15-0 at Chatteris. Finley Plant fired a treble, Jack Lisher and Nathan Johnson bagged braces and Sammi Gare, Mason Firman and Cameron Reid got one apiece.

Aztecs Whites 5 Elsenham 1
Cambs Mini League, under-9D
AZTECS got off to a flying start to the new season when Lloyd Blackburn gave them the lead with a bullet header from a Bart Purser corner after just 50 seconds.

Further goals from Purser and Jordan Chippis made it 3-0.

A well worked corner routine involving Purser and Joshua Murray set up the fourth for Ethan Hallam, before Oliver Scroggie teed up Ellison Campbell for the fifth.

Elsenham never gave up and pulled a deserved goal back direct from a corner just before the end.

Haverhill Rovers 4 Royston Town 3
S-Tech Girls' League, Under-14 South
ROVERS secured a hard-fought victory over Royston in their first game of the season.

Royston took the lead after just two minutes, but Rovers equalised with a long-range Bethany Knight effort.

Royston again took the lead in the 20th minute but five minutes later Knight scored her second.

In the second half, Rovers went in front when Becky Rawling scored straight from a corner. Royston equalised seven minutes from time, but Sian Tatum scored the winner for Rovers after being sent through by a fantastic pass from Ella Blowes.

Rovers under-13s and under-14s are still looking for new players. Call Steve Hull on 07759 016470.

It's an Abi return as champ defends her title

ABI Cartwright-Thomas retained her ladies' singles title on Haverhill Tennis Club's annual finals day.

But the champion had to come from behind, losing the first set to Marcia Armstrong on a tie-break before levelling in the same fashion. However, the deciding set was one-sided as Cartwright-Thomas completed a 6-7, 7-6, 6-0 win.

Armstrong took her revenge in the doubles. She and partner Sarah Lee clinched a hard-fought 7-5, 6-3 win against Cartwright-Thomas and Lucy Hardwick.

Armstrong and Cartwright-Thomas were opponents for a third time when they joined their respective mixed doubles partners Ian Terry and Adam Fowle in a repeat of last year's final. Cartwright-Thomas and Fowle retained their title with a comprehensive 6-1, 6-1 victory.

In the men's singles final, recent members Giuliano Cossu and Sasha Vucetic had a competitive first set before Cossu pulled ahead to take the crown 6-4, 6-0.

A new pairing of Fowle and Josh Dashwood overcame Rob Jeffs and Ross Tobin in a closely fought men's doubles match, winning 6-4, 6-4 to lift the trophy.

Double delight for Vase teams

Haverhill Rov 4 Saffron Walden Tn 2
FA VASE, SECOND QUALIFYING ROUND

IT was a huge day for Haverhill as the town celebrated seeing two sides advance to the next round.

The first team won their derby tussle with Saffron Walden 4-2 at the New Croft, while Haverhill Sports Association pulled off a shock 1-0 win at Norwich United.

Peter Betts' first XI were two goals to the good at half time thanks to Callum Harrison's goal and a Dan Cornwell penalty.

Jacob Brown made it 3-0 to Rovers after the break, before a challenge from Walden's James Abbott and some retaliation from Cornwell to something he heard resulted in red cards for both players.

Walden then fought back to 3-2 as both Christopher Reid and Alex Riches netted, but the hosts made sure of the win through Jamie Challis in added time.

"I was really pleased to win a local derby like that," said Betts. "HSA beating Norwich United as well made it a great day for the town."

"I think the scoreline flattered them a little bit. We should have been five up in the first half and they didn't register a shot on target."

"We dominated the first 15 minutes of the second half and got the third goal. The sendings-off ruined the game a bit, and they picked up when it was 10 against 10. They got two goals but we got a fourth to put it to bed."

"I thought Saffron Walden would have offered a bit more and given us more of a test."

Walden's joint-manager Colin Wallington said: "It was probably our poorest performance of the season."

Betts' team will take on Southend Manor at home in the next round, with HSA hosting Ipswich Wanderers.

We're on our way: Callum Harrison puts Haverhill in front against Saffron Walden Town in the FA Vase. CP

Jeffs among the points in one-sided win

Haverhill 45 Mildenhall 0

MILDENHALL were no match for a well-drilled Haverhill side as they warmed up for their return to the Eastern Counties League this Saturday.

The hosts took some time to get into their stride, and Mildenhall failed with a penalty as they made early forays in Haverhill territory.

But the hosts soon got going and, after Jake Jeffs put a penalty just wide, they got the scoreboard ticking when a break from the back of a scrum by Simon Potter on 12 minutes allowed Jack Wilkinson to set up Jeffs for the first try.

Three minutes later, a nicely weighted kick from the back of a maul by Gavin Hope released a trio of Haverhill backs and the bounce was kind, allowing Wilkinson to go in under the posts. The conversion made it 12-0.

On 20 minutes a high tackle led to a Haverhill penalty kicked for touch and, from the line-out, good ball released Jeffs to set up Adam Hunt for another converted try.

Five minutes before the break, Jeffs ran on to his own kick and touched down a try which he converted to make it 26-0 at the break.

Just two minutes after the restart, Hope released Bishop for another converted try, while Jeffs was key to the next score on 51 minutes, releasing Brad Gibson to storm 50 metres and score. Jeffs' conversion made it 40-0, and Potter's break from the back of a scrum allowed Hope to complete the scoring.

Man of the match went to Ricky Brown.

The two sides meet again on Saturday in Eastern Counties Division Two.
